The New Gold Standard, comes as a harbinger to the highly anticipated Fort Knox Five full length album, which will be released October 21st, 2008. The New Gold Standard has already sold over 5,000 units worldwide and continues to do well. This success is a result of the constant DJ touring of the FK5 crew. Most notable is Jon H's stint as DJ on the last Gwen Stefani and Black Eyed Peas tour, as well as their position as music directors at the club Eye Candy located in the MGM Grand in Las Vegas.

The Fort Knox Five established Fort Knox Recordings four years ago, hustling their funk-fueled vinyl worldwide. In 2005, they were selected to the prestigious Urb Next 100. With The New Gold Standard, the Fort Knox Five have compiled a collection of breakthrough singles and some vault classics to showcase the groundbreaking sounds of their premier funk and breaks label. To kick things off, Afrika Bambaataa & King Kamonzi help deliver a statement straight to Washington, DC, which is followed up by the instant classic, "The Brazilian Hipster," a track featured on numerous compilations, including the illustrious Hotel Costes. The unique voice of Rootz of See-I, is featured on International Velvet's deep, sitar rocker, "Baby Shiva."

With The New Gold Standard, the Fort Knox Five take things to a new level, bringing 14 songs that represent the past, present and future of their label. Fort Knox Recordings smashes the artificial barriers established by the System that keeps goodmusic down. Forget about tempos and genres - Fort Knox want to take you back to the roots and unite all music from our funk, dub, and soul brothas & sistas - you dig? So stop being so serious, this is music, it's supposed to be fun!
